To whom it may concern,

RE: Letter of Recommendation for Daphne Thomson

On behalf of the District of Sparwood, I am pleased to provide this letter of recommendation for Daphne Thomson.

Daphne delivered a professional and highly relevant online training series for our organization on artificial intelligence, Microsoft Copilot, practical prompting, municipal use cases, and responsible AI governance. The sessions were designed specifically for local government, which made the content immediately useful and applicable to municipal staff.

The series included interactive virtual sessions, live demonstrations, practical exercises, custom participant materials, and opportunities for discussion. Daphne covered foundational AI concepts, opportunities and limitations, security considerations, platform selection, Microsoft Copilot demonstrations, effective prompting, real municipal scenarios, and governance considerations.

What stood out most was Daphne's ability to connect artificial intelligence to the operational realities of local government. Her experience as a Director of Legislative Services made the training especially relevant, as it reflected a thorough understanding of local government operations, governance, public accountability, and the practical realities faced by municipal staff. Her examples were practical and relevant to areas such as financial, HR, communications, reporting, research, workflow support, document development, meeting preparation, and administrative processes.

Daphne was well prepared, organized, responsive, and easy to work with. She presented complex technology in a clear, approachable, and practical way, while creating an engaging environment where participants felt comfortable asking questions and exploring new tools.

We confidently recommend Daphne Thomson to any municipality, public sector organization, or professional team seeking practical training or guidance related to artificial intelligence, Microsoft Copilot, digital transformation, or responsible technology adoption. Daphne is knowledgeable, professional, and highly capable of helping organizations understand and apply AI in meaningful and responsible ways.

Sincerely,

Megan Rawles
