To Whom It May Concern,

RE: Letter of Recommendation for Daphne Thomson

It is my pleasure to provide this letter of recommendation for Daphne Thomson.

Daphne worked with the City of Yellowknife to support early-stage digital modernization initiatives focused on artificial intelligence governance, process automation, and operational workflow improvement. During her engagement, Daphne worked closely with leadership and operational staff across several departments including financial operations, GIS and asset management, and corporate services.

Her work included reviewing and documenting existing operational processes, identifying opportunities for automation and AI-supported workflows, and developing practical recommendations aligned with the City's broader technology modernization efforts. Daphne also contributed to the development of an AI policy and our AI and Digital Governance Framework to guide responsible and structured adoption of emerging technologies.

Throughout this work, Daphne demonstrated a strong ability to bridge strategy and practical implementation. She engaged with staff to understand real operational challenges and translated those insights into thoughtful, structured recommendations. Her approach emphasized security, governance, and alignment with the City's long term technology roadmap while also identifying opportunities for efficiency and innovation.

Daphne brings a rare combination of strategic thinking, operational understanding, and emerging technology knowledge. She is collaborative, professional, and deeply committed to helping organizations adopt technology in a responsible and meaningful way.

The City of Yellowknife would recommend Daphne without hesitation for organizations seeking support with digital transformation, AI governance, and technology enabled process improvement.

Sincerely,

Cole Caljouw
